

Upside-down Heart

By Jeremy Shafer
©1998

Ever had one of those days when the milk of human kindness just won't flow? When you feel your heart's has been worn out, misunderstood, and bent out of shape? Well, you're not alone. Take heart, maybe what you folks need are some different viewpoints like in this model.

So get the worries off your chests and fold them into shapely Upside-down Hearts!

1 Begin white side up. Valley-fold and unfold in half diagonally both ways.

2 Valley-fold and unfold creasing only at the top.

3 Valley-fold the front flap to the top edge. The fold line starts at the black dot. The model should refuse to lie flat.

4 Valley-fold and unfold from the black dot to the corner. Then unfold to step 3.

5 Repeat steps 3-4 on the other side.

6 Now do step 3 on both sides at the same time. Flatten the middle flap to the left. This fold is a rabbit ear in disguise.

7 Valley-fold the end of the middle flap down to the center line. The fold line goes through the black dot. Flatten the flap with a squash. A pumpkin also works. Make tiny valley folds on the side corners.

8 Pull the center flap outward to make a nice stand for the Upside-down Heart.

9 Valley-fold and unfold to define the left and right ventricles. Shape them to taste. Turn the heart upside down.

10 The Upside-down Heart is complete.